DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-31, drawn to superantigen toxin DNA fragment and DNA construct, classified in class 536, subclass 23.1.
 - II. Claims 32-43, drawn to superantigen toxin and altered toxin, classified in class 530, subclass 350.
 - III. Claims 44 and 45, drawn to a method for diagnosis of superantigen-associated bacterial infection, classified in class 435, subclass 7.1.
 - IV. Claim 46, drawn to a diagnostic kit, classified in class 435, subclass 975.
 - V. Claims 47-52, drawn to a vaccine and multivalent vaccine, classified in class 424, subclass 184.1.
 - VI. Claims 53-56, drawn to a therapeutic method for treatment or amelioration of infection, classified in class 514, subclass 2.
 - VII. Claims 57-75, drawn to antisera/antibody, classified in class 530, subclass 387.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The inventions of Group I, II, IV, V and VII are drawn to structurally and functionally distinct products, which are capable of separate manufacture, use and sale. Group I is directed to DNA. Group II is directed to protein. Group IV is directed to a kit. Group V is directed to a vaccine. Group VII is directed to antibody.

Inventions III and VI are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions have different method objectives, steps and parameters.

Inventions II and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the protein can be used in a materially different process of using the product, such as treatment methods, methods to elicit antibody production or purification methods.

Inventions V and VI are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the vaccine can be used in methods to elicit specific antibody production.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for one Group is not required for another Group, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

2. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

If Applicant elects Group I: Applicant should elect a specific superantigen toxin and SEQ ID NO.

If Applicant elects Group II: Applicant should elect a specific superantigen toxin and SEQ ID NO, as well as a specific altered superantigen toxin.

If Applicant elects Groups III-VI: Applicant should elect a specific superantigen toxin.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
